Open Compute Project: An Overview

John W. Linville

Collaboration Summit

17 April 2013
Why This Talk?

Open Compute Project is interesting because...

- "Efficient computing infrastructures at the lowest possible cost..."
- Applying open source principles to hardware design!
What Is It?

TBD...
Who Are Involved?

TBD...
What Are The Goals?

TBD...
What Already Happened?

TBD...
Meetings & Events

TBD...
Working Groups

TBD...
Overview of OCP

Introduction
Who am I?
Why This Talk?

About OCP
What Is It?
Who Are Involved?
What Are The Goals?
What Already Happened?

OCP Happenings
Meetings & Events
Working Groups
Hardware Designs
Data Centers

OCP Targets
Big Data
Hyperscale
Disaggregation

Conclusion
Questions?
Contact
vCard

Hardware Designs

TBD...
TBD...
Big Data

TBD...
Hyperscale

TBD...
Disaggregation

TBD...
Questions?
Feel free to contact me!

- Email linville@tuxdriver.com
  - ...@redhat.com
  - ...@gmail.com
  - ...@kernel.org
- IRC linville on Freenode and LinuxNET
- Facebook and Google+ as “John W. Linville”
Overview of OCP

John W. Linville

Introduction
Who am I?
Why This Talk?

About OCP
What Is It?
Who Are Involved?
What Are The Goals?
What Already Happened?

OCP Happenings
Meetings & Events
Working Groups
Hardware Designs
Data Centers

OCP Targets
Big Data
Hyperscale
Disaggregation

Conclusion
Questions?
Contact
vCard